SANDRINGHAM
TESTIMONIALS.

From Mr. JOHN J. MAHON, Capilla del Señor, June 29, 1881.—The dip which you sent me I used according to directions, and I can assure you that it gave the desired result. During four years of practical experience of curing scab in sheep, I have seen many specifics used, and I consider Gilliard's the only one that gives complete satisfaction. It improves the quality and promotes the growth of the wool. For efficiency, economy and facility of application, I prefer it to any dip I have used.

From MR. JAMES M. THOMAS, Estancia Santa Ines, Monte, June 29, 1881.—Having given a good trial to Gilliard's Dip, I have much pleasure in bearing my testimony to its valuable quality as a Sheep Dip. It destroys all insect life with which sheep are infected, mixes readily in cold water, does not injure the hands, and softens all hard parts. I shall strongly recommend it whenever an opportunity offers. As regards the cheapness, it should command a good sale.

From Mr. Wm. Petty, Estancia Caro, Colonia, Sept. 20, 1881—
"I feel great pleasure in informing you that the sheep dip supplied by you to me under the name of Gillard's Sheep Dip has had surprising results on my English long-woolled rams; it has kept them entirely free from scab after only twice using it, although those rams have been constantly running in a flock of scabby sheep. I intend for the first time to give it a trial with the whole of my English breed of sheep as soon as I have them shorn, as I feel satisfied I shall with that did keep scab out of the flock."

From Messrs. Patrick Mahon, junr., Ciriaco Morales, and James Murray, Capilla del Señor, Sept. 18, 1881—
"It gives us great pleasure to inform you that, after giving a good trial to Gillard's non-poisonous sheep dip, we can pronounce it to be the best specific we have used as yet, and we are fully determined for the future to use no other remedy."

Associated Press Telegram

HAVAS' AGENCY

Algiers 22nd.

The Governor General has received telegrams to effect that the troops of the Arab Chief Si-Slenian have been routed by the French and pursued to the frontier of Morocco, with considerable loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners.

PAUPERISM IN ENGLAND.

Among the chief characteristics of Great Britain, as drawn in contrast with those of other nations, none attract so much attention as the immense individual wealth culminating over a collective pauperism. In any other nation such a disproportion would have been quietly levelled by a revolution, but the liberal institutions of England, the wise policy of her statesmen, have averted the immediate consequences and postponed the violent reforms which must necessarily some day arise and change such a state of affairs. The price of bread brought on the French revolution, and the Irish Land League rocked the cradle of Socialism and communism, and is daily extending the International. Pauperism, now-a-days, as of yore, interferes with the most sacred rights of man, the rights of his digestive organs, and men in such cases never shudder before consequences. Prudhomme, with all his sophisms and attractive arguments, will never convince an individual so thoroughly of socialism as the tooth of hunger and misery. As long as bread is cheap and food plenty no Government need fear any social revolution.

The great cause of pauperism in England is the extraordinary increase of population; this increase is larger in Great Britain than in any other country of the world. We naturally except the United States, where the increase arises from the great humar current of emigration from Europe. The theory of Malthus is verified to the letter, and more so, since food and population in Great Britain present larger disproportions than those set down by the great economist. The arithmethical progression of food must be completed with daily cargoes of comestibles from Belgium, France and the United States, whilst the geometrical progression of population must find an outlet into the plains of Manitoba or the hills of New Zealand. Both cases need capital, and as this is not forthcoming exactly in those grades where the increase of population is greatest, paupers remain at home and beg their living on the soil they were born on.

Great Britain has a population of 35,000,000 souls, hemmed in two small islands. One-fifth of this population, or in other words the 'bagatelle' of 7,000,000 individuals, is bordering on destitution.

In the poor law returns for January 1, 1881, there were 1,011,389 persons on the books in receipt of parish relief, and, according to the Poor Law Board, there was three and a half times that number applying for relief during the year, which would give a total of 3,539,861 persons applying for parish help during the year 1880. The number of those who were constantly on the verge of want and frequently got help from friends and neighbors was as large as the list of 'bona fide' paupers, so the total number of the population which was perpetually bordering on destitution would be over 7,000,000, or about one-fifth of the entire population. The amount of the poor and police rates in 1880 was £16,165,220.

There are 7,000,000 paupers in G. Britain, whilst there is not a man in the Nahuel Huapi: in that triangle at the foot of the Cordillera all these paupers might be settled, if the brains, the energy and the money of the British Government only knew how to take the matter in hand. The measure would be that of a statesman, since if the day ever comes when agriculture and manufacturing interests are at a dead lock, not all capital of Great Britain or Europe will stem the current. Instead of 7,000,000, the country will have twenty million paupers. They will only a Menelard to brigade them before the palaces of the wealthiest and most educated aristocracy of the world: the question will not be 'Where are the coals,' but 'Where is the bread.'

The losses occasioned to Great Britain by this pauperism are immense, and the following figures taken from an address of Mr Hoyle of Tottington to the British Association for the advancement of science, which we received by the mail, will give a fair idea of the consequences of misery.

"During the ten years ended 1880, the amount of money expended upon intoxicating liquors in the United Kingdom was £1363,330,711 or an average of over £136,000,000 yearly. The indirect cost and losses resulting were of a most appalling kind, comprising crime, pauperism, lunacy, loss of labor, disease &c, and he estimated them at £138.000,000 yearly. Adding that to the direct cost, £136,000,000, they had a total of £274,000,000. Deducting £54,000,000 for revenue and for what some people might consider the needful use of these drinks in medicine or otherwise, it still left a sum of £220,000,000 as the annual economic loss to the nation."

The above figures are simply enormous, and Great Britain has consumed a River state of intoxicating liquors in the last decade. Salvation armies, temperance and teetotal societies, deprecations and imprecations, will not remove the evil: there is only one outlet and that is prosperity. Since these paupers cannot have prosperity at home, let them seek it abroad. A sound man must make his way in this country and prosperity soon crowns his efforts; he can rise above his station, what he can seldom achieve in Europe. But if he fails here, he will fail everywhere, because there is a defect that does not lie in the country, but is hidden in himself or his surroundings. All Britishers have prospered, and so have the Italians the Germans, the Tyrolese, the Russians and the very Bulgarians that take the plough in hand with perseverance. In spite of locusts and droughts, of revolutions and floods, the men who took to agriculture in the right manner in this country have succeeded. the Santa Fe and Chubut colonies are a substantial proof of the assertion, and whoever doubts, let him judge for himself; if he is not convinced, he belongs to a philosophical school, where matter is a delusion and the legitimacy of reason is a chimera.

FAIR TRADE.

October 16th.

I quite understand that the readers of the Standard are many of them better informed on this question than I can be; but a friend has just shown me a letter from the River Plate in which he is asked—"What does this 'fair trade' mean?" As we have here all that is written on the subject before our eyes, and have the advantage of personally knowing some of the gentlemen who write in the newspapers in favor of 'fair trade' and laugh at it behind the backs of their editors, or rather newspaper managers, a new type of business man, we are, to a certain extent, behind the scenes and comprehend the 'cunning' of newspapers and the process of getting up and propagating a party cry, and are not liable to take 'au pied de la lettre' what we see in print.

It must be assumed, on behalf of its adversaries, that 'fair trade' is not in any sense 'protection.' 'Fair traders' call themselves free traders, just as Unitarians call themselves Christians; but, they say, free trade to be genuine and effectual must be universal, or otherwise it as they call it, 'one-sided and injurious to the country which adopts it in face of the hostile tariffs of its rivals.

On the other hand, the thoroughgoing free trader says that, from a selfish point of view, if free trade were universal it would be a relative disadvantage to England, because as long as other countries continue to be protectionist England reaps the benefit of their commercial and economical errors, and notwithstanding the great natural resources of some foreign countries they do not advance as rapidly as they otherwise would, and therefore this country will maintain its absolute as well as relative pre-eminence.

The pros and cons of these two positions will reduce the subject to manageable proportions. In shortly reproducing what has been asserted in support of one or other opinion, I do not propose to fill your columns with the now familiar figures and statistics of imports and exports, but rather in a few words to extract the essence of the controversy.

In the present stage of the question it is unnecessary even to allude to such matters as 'balance of trade,' 'excess of imports,' 'payments to the foreigner in specie' and in general. To the ignorant statements made in quarterly reviews, and by Cockney literateurs in Conservative newspapers when the subject was first broached, and before the public had been again instructed in the alphabet of the question. The better educated even among fair traders have got over the 'pons asinorum' of the subject, as it has been called, and admit the general principles of free trade and the truth of the facts and statistics proving that so long as our accumulated wealth continues to increase it is immaterial whether we receive our returns direct in goods or specie from this or that country, or indirectly through Bombay or Ceylon, or whether we receive them in goods in payment of interest on investments, profits, freight and insurance; the excess of exports of any particular country being only a proof of its indebtedness to this country or other parts of the world, the principle of all trade being barter. But still there is a class of mind, keen enough in its way, and, from a business point of view, jealous, narrow, egoistic and avaricious, that cannot be made to comprehend why if America and France prohibit the introduction of our manufactures, we should not reject theirs. In support of such views clever people fall, it must be confessed, on some subtleties that must be understood to be contained rather than expressed in the following summary of their propositions and queries:—

1st. If the United States, France and other countries make advances under protection, why should we attribute our advance to free trade?

2d. If we make a treaty with France, on the principle of reciprocity, why should not that principle prevail in our commercial relations generally?

3d. We propose only to put a small duty on those articles which compete with our own manufactures, ank to satisfy the farmers we would consent to a duty of 5s a quarter, which would be about 10 per cent. on the average price of wheat.

TUDOR, equal in quality and flavour to Teas sold at 30 m|c and 40 m|c lb. Parties who have once tried it take no other. SOLD EVERYWHERE.

4th. The 10 per cent. is not a protection duty but for fiscal purposes, and would relieve those sources of taxation, and notably local taxation.

5th. The price of the manufactured article to the consumer at home would manifestly not be raised 10 per cent., but only by the difference in the cost of production of the article at home and abroad. If France can make an article 2½ per cent. cheaper than we can, the price will be raised in England only 2½ per cent., whatever the duty may be; because the price will always be maintained at a rate covering cost and fair profit, by the competition between the home manufacturers. In regard to the foreign article the duty will be either prohibitive or part of it will be paid by the foreigners into our national exchequer.

6th. Free trade as at present existing only favours fixed incomes by the general cheapening of articles of all kinds; but in the meantime our agriculture and manufactures languish.

7th. 'Suppose,' says Mr. Eckroyd, 'that England contained millions of well-to-do people who lived upon their incomes paid let us say in food and luxuries from abroad, the balance of trade might still be accounted for, but we should have few farmers or artizans.'

8th. In regard to neutral markets, if it be thought that extra duties by increasing the cost of production will injure us in those markets, we reply that if the French can make an article 2½ per cent. cheaper than we can, they can undersell us now in neutral markets, and we shall only be in the same position.

9th. We propose to inaugurate the consolidation of the empire by receiving all the products of British colonies and possessions duty free. The colonies can produce wheat as plentifully and cheaply as the United States or Russia, and the money the colonies receive will be expended in British manufactures, provided they reciprocate, as it is intended they shall, in respect to tariff; and the articles of food and some raw materials will remain the same in Great Britain, except perhaps in respect to one article, WOOL.

ANSWERS.

1st. Our advance is not wholly attributed to free trade. It is quite understood that the gold discoveries, mechanical inventions and the gradual development of the railway system have contributed to the late progress of the world generally. The fact that the railway system, for example, which was comparatively complete in Great Britain some years ago, has only been quite recently developed in Central and Eastern Europe, is of itself a reason why such countries as Austria, Germany and France might have appeared lately to have made a greater relative advance than England, and that advance could not be attributed to 'protection' any more or less than our own advance could be attributed to free trade. As a matter of fact, neither France nor Germany, nor even the United States, has made the advance either absolute or relative in net accumulated wealth that England has made in the last ten years, and that is the final test of a system of production. It is not now a question of the distribution of wealth. Were it so it would be a bad case for the social sentiments and prejudices of the political party who now advocate protection under the guise of 'fair trade.' Indeed the question of the 'distribution of wealth' is a this moment the avenging demon they have raised by their own foolishness and egotism.

2d. It is conceded and was openly stated by Mr Cobden himself that the treaty of 1860 with France was inconsistent with the principles of free trade. Napoleon III was in this question in advance of his countrymen, and that advantage was seized by our Government. The continuance of the treaty as a temporary measure is quite an open question; but all men of business will acknowledge that in making their calculations the great desideratum is 'certainty'; and that at least is secured by a treaty. The same question of certainty and uncertainty occurs in the choice between 'specific,' and 'ad valorem' duties. All British duties are specific, but they are low, whilst France now proposes to make her own higher and level the duties of whichever kind at certain British industries; and that is precisely what, 'mutatis mutandis' the fair traders propose to do in England. It is not true that the principle of the treaty of 1860 is 'reciprocity.' Those who say so will in the same breath complain that whilst we put a nominal duty on French wines the French are permitted to put prohibitive duties on some of our manufactures. That surely is not 'reciprocity.' The object of the treaty was, and is still, rather political than commercial. Politically we have gained in the better understanding which exists between the two nations; and commercially there is no doubt whatever that in spite of a few noisy and selfish manufacturers in France, of whom the present weak French Cabinet is afraid, the bulk of the wine growers and peasantry of France have tasted the benefits of greater freedom of trade, and that before long they will make their opinions known. They are beyond everything ignorant and have not felt the pinch they would do were the treaty abrogated.

3rd. How are we to determine from time to time what foreign articles compete or are likely to compete with those of British manufacture? For example the Bradford people are not undersold; very much the reverse; but their goods are ousted by articles of foreign make, not only of a better quality but of a description that cannot be made of the raw material and by the machinery employed in England. It is not likely that the Bradford people will allow others to be protected by duties on articles that compete only in cost of production when their own goods are supplanted by dearer goods but of the quality that fashion requires. The end of it would be that the 10 per cent duty would have to be levied on all articles of foreign manufacture, as well as on cereals, to satisfy the farmers.

(To be concluded.)

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There was n't much news going yesterday morning in or out of the papers, but there was plenty of heat and dust. The latter is awful in the suburbs, and daily-bread men come into town every morning as white as millers, in spite of dust coats, veils etc. People who never pray for anything else are now praying for rain.

The National Deputies approved the Customs Law for 1882 on Tuesday, 'en general,' and got through six clauses of Art. 1 'in particular.' The enormous increase in the wine duties is universally condemned. The Port wine topers are terribly crusty about it.

There is an 'auto da fe' this morning of all the paid off Bonds of the once famous Emprestito Popular, a most unpopular and unsatisfactory stock the conversion of which into hard cash was the only popular thing in connection with it.

There is a hot time coming for dealers in Lottery Tickets. The new Buenos Aires Lottery will start on New Year's Day, and the penalties for selling tickets of any other Lottery will be something tremendous and fall little short of hanging, drawing and quartering.

The Exhibition building is being run up again very fast; nevertheless it will require 'full speed' day and night to have the place ready by February 15th. To ordinary minds it seems a sheer impossibility, but we suppose it would be a gross outrage to say or even think that the energetic members of the Industrial Club are men of ordinary minds. It is well to remember that, even in Europe, not one of the numerous Exhibitions held there was fully ready on the opening day, although a couple of years preparation time was always allowed. Here, with very limited means, we are trying to have everything done in two months and 22 days. The practicability of the feat has now become the subject of pretty stiff wagering, and odds are freely laid against it. The French and Italians take them cheerfully; but the layers are numerous and confident, and appear to think that, owing to the conjunction of the planets, another, if not half a dozen terific storms may fairly be expected between this and the 15th of February, so they have both time and wind in their favour. We hope they wont win.

The annual 'hegira' to Montevideo for sea bathing, so called, will soon begin, and already some families are packing their portmanteaux. When the Southern Railway is flushed to Bahia Blanca, Buenos Ayres will have a genuine salt water bathing resort, not the half fresh, ½ salt and the rest muddy liquid of the sister port. There is no summer enjoyment to be compared with a daily 'header' into the pure water of mighty ocean, and this at break of day. Midday and evening bathing is better for invalids.

The new capital of the province has not been fixed upon yet: nevertheless the buildings that are to adorn it are already all planned, and the architects are ready to begin the moment a decision is come to as to where the new capital is to be built. The plans for all the new buildings were opened in Governor Rocha's 'despacho' on Tuesday. They were from all quarters: two from B. Oriental, four from Germany, one from Belgium, another from Bordeaux, one from Hamburg (for a church) several from Buenos Ayres, one from England, two from Chile, &c. There was such a pile of them that the clock was striking 11 p.m. when the wearied Governor opened the last of them. Chile, England, Belgium and Hamburg all lean to sacred architecture and send in plans for churches: they all have Latin mottoes attached, that of the English architect being 'Fiat Justicia ruat coelum,' which we take as a broad hint that his plan is the best, and, if there is any justice in the Plate, ought to be accepted. Another competitor (Buenos Ayrean) for building the new Provincial Parliament House, signs 'Honi soit qui mal y pense', a sly hint which, we suppose, refers to the legislators and not to his own plan. The list is too long to criticise further. The prizes will be awarded in a week or two.

The Saint Cecilia festival at the Florida Gardens on Tuesday night attracted a truly enormous crowd of the elité of Society. The place was literally packed, and the consumption of low beer and high tea was something tremendous. One being, whose savage breast could not be soothed by the really very fine music performed, called for a dozen of oysters, but the waiter looked at him in refined horror and sighed a mild demurrer. The hearty applause of the crowded audience amply testified to the excellence of the performance.

This is a very polite and warm hearted country, Messrs Zemborain Martinez & Co., whose premises were saved from the fire in Plaza Constitucion last week by the exertions of the officers and men of the 7th of the Line, have sent a warm letter of thanks to the former and several casks of wine and other delicacies to the men.

There was a row at Moron the other day between the gipsies encamped there and the neighbours. Whether the ruction was caused by fortune telling or some misconception by the Bohemians in the 'meum and tuum' line, we really cannot say, but the wanderers got the worst of the business, and there was a rise in the price of sticking plaster at the local 'botica'.

Colonel Lasserre is likely to be posted to the command of the Admiral Brown. It is no small honour to be entrusted with the crack ship of the squadron, but the gallant Colonel well deserves the distinction.

In reference to the recent failure of the famous Ladies' Deposit Bank in Boston, a New York exchange says:— The creditors of Mrs. Howe's Ladies' Deposit in Boston will receive five cents on the dollar. This will be something of a disappointment to the creditors, as they were led to believe, when depositing their money that they would receive five dollars on the cent.

The funeral of Dr Villegas, of the Supreme Provincial Court, took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by the most prominent men in the city, the Bar mustering very strong in the sad cortege.

A rather distinguished party will visit the Admiral Brown on Sunday next, viz, the members of the Federal Court, the Provincial Court, and half the lawyers in town. The Judges of the Federal Court will be the hosts on the occasion: the others are their guests. We hope they will have smooth water. It is awful to think of the consequences should anything happen to the basket holding all the legal eggs of the country.

The Tierra del Fuego Expedition will start on the 30th. B. Ayres is so like a frying-pan now that it is an advantage to get even into the Fire. The South Pole would be better this broiling weather. It is delicious to ponder over frostbite when the thermometer is 85 in the shade.

In addition to the Embankment to Palermo, there is a scheme on foot for a similar big improvement at the Boca. What about a tunnel under the river to Montevideo?

It is rumoured that Admiral Cordero will shortly leave for Europe on an important mission for the National Government.

The Municipality has a couple of hundred applications from parties anxious to act as agents for the new Lottery.

The Lord Mayor is about to take the Southern Cemetery in hand, now that he has turned the Northern one into a credit to the city. What about the Chacarita?

Does any subscriber of ours keep an ice house? If so, he had better look slippy (almost as easily done as said where ice is concerned). It is not generally known, but chemistry nevertheless affirms that a certain gas is generated from ice. An ice house is, in fact, a regular powder magazine, and people who have ice-houses should take care to secure proper ventilation. At a certain state of heat, the gas in an ice-house has been known to explode by the light of a match. The fact does not appear to be generally known.

The police are working hard to unravel the robbery in the Custom House. Thirty people have been examined and cross-examined, but as yet without any light being thrown on the subject.

Capt. Manton informs us that a large invoice of Alta Voz-Gower-Bell-Telephones has arrived, and five hundred of our principal houses will be immediately supplied with the latest style of the 'Alta Voz'; most of the lines are already run, and there will be no hitch in the service.

A number of applications for space at the Exhibition came from France by the Trent. This looks like business.

The Lacroze Tramway's receipts on Sunday last were over 30,000 $m|c, with 40 cars running. This is almost equal to a Bonanza in California.

The report of big guns heard in the city yesterday was from the French gunboat Talisman, saluting the 'plaza.' At first people thought it was King Kalakaua's birthday.

The news from Montevideo yesterday was of the milk and water order. The papers there are head and ears into the question of Banda Oriental and this country becoming one for better or worse. Some of them lose their temper on the subject. Business down there appears to be a little more lively.

The Royal Mail steamer Trent will not sail till the 5th prox., next Monday week.

Some people think there will be a 'corner' in wine owing to the enormous increase in the duties. Be this as it may, one effect of these preposterous duties will be to make Madame la France's 'sour claret' more sour than ever, through adulteration.

Count and Countess Amelot de Chaillou entertained Admiral Grivel and the officers of his staff at dinner at the French Legation on Wednesday evening. The banquet was a most sumptuous one. The Admiral wore civilian dress, but some of his suite were in uniform.

| Patacons | 25.05 |
| Cedulas A | 98½ |
| National Bank Shares | 106½ |
| Old Gas Co. Shares | 1.80$ |

The gold market dropped off five cents today. Since yesterday afternoon they were trying to sell some French exchange gold at 25.10, but it could not be done; and to-day holders of gold had to give way and take 25.05, but the pressure of wool and produce on the market is tremendous, and soon people will have to accept 25 m|c at the Oficina de Cambios, as there will be no cash buyer for gold on the Bolsa except at that rate. Time contracts must necessarily command 5 to 10 cents premium, since otherwise there would be no object in making such contracts, but gold for the end of December will in all probability rule easy at par, 949 per patacon.

Gold for cash opened at 25.10 and after a few minutes tumbled to 25.05 where it held and closed, sales 79000 pats. For end of month rather a larger business done 244000 sold at 25.10, chiefly bought by parties who have outstandings to liquidate for that date.

Cedulas ruled dreary enough, only 11.000 sold a 98¾. There is hardly anything doing in this line of all stocks. The Minister's project to strengthen the bank seems to hang fire in the Committe room of the Legislature. The probabilities are, however, that with money easy and the emission of Series A closed the stock will run back to where it was a couple of months ago, par.

The 'azzione' market ruled at the opening weak owing to pressure of the bears, but subsequently it tiffened and shares for cash were fast scarce. There is such a tremendous hubbub in the share market that outsiders who wish to speculate in the stock prefer to buy cash and hold the shares to buying for the end of the month with all the threatening danger and uncertainty of the month's liquidation, and it is the opinion of many of the leading brokers that at least Ten thousand shares have been taken up cash by outsiders who will hold the stock until it gives a fair profit to sell. The 'azzione' market seems to many to have been pushed too far by the bears and to have arrived at the point when 100 000 pats from money can at once turn the corner with the stock. Of one thing there can be no doubt, the Syndicate has parted with its shares and they are now spread over the market. There is far more money in the market now than last August when the Italians took up the stock, although disappointed and banks prefer to advance money on any other stock, still the speculators pay so high a rate and give such very good margins that the money is always forthcoming to carry the shares. One Italian firm alone who to the present was the largest holder of the shares has had 67 millions currency in National Bank shares; this party they say has now realised, but the change is merely that instead of so much stock being held by one it is spread over, say 60 holders, which is all the better for the market. Rizzi it seems bought yesterday afternoon some 2,000 shares instead of 50 as stated. Two of the very strong outside men began buying today, and it is said more will follow, but there is a very nervous feeling in the market about some well known operators who have sold the stock short enormously.

The Shares opened at 106½ cash, dropped abnormally to 106, and closed at 106½, but the stock cash is said to be very scarce; cash sales to-day only 330, against 800 the other day. For end of month 8100 sold, opening at 106½, dropping to 105, rising to 107 and closing at 106¾. For December 2850 sold, opening at 107, and closing at 109. Total days sales 11,280.

Old Gas Shares looking up and in demand, one sale 62 at 1.00.

Chevalier Harby, Commander of Maskelyne, was enveloped in friends when he entered the hall; also Mr A King, who has returned to the Plate after close on a 2 years' absence. The Bolsa was crowded to-day with new faces.

It seems that in London they are talking now very much about the dangerous position of the Bank of France. We hold for to-morrow a very important article on this subject from a London paper, sent us by a banker.

Exchange rules active, and francs are very freely offered. The rates are advancing owing to the few takers and increased number of drawers. All the French are buying wool freely.

Mr Powers of London informs us that yesterday he received a large batch of telephone instruments from Europe, which will enable Capt. Mantons & Co. to go ahead.

Capt Kermode of ss. Rosse, was welcomed on 'Change; he says that the storm in England was the worst ever known; the water was blown out of the Thames, and people walked across the Thames under London Bridge and Waterloo Bridge without wetting their feet, a most unprecedented event.

The sales at the ring were—
For cash 79,000 25.10-05
For Nov. 30th 244,000 25.10
Sales, 323,000.

Sales, 11,280.
Old Gas Co. Shares—
For cash 62 shares at $1,800

Afterhours the Share market rose to 107¼ for end of month, and afterwards closed at 106¾. The market looks very hard, and many expect that at the end of the month the shares will be on the top of the glass roof of the Bolsa.

The Provincial Bank discounted to-day over 3 millions, and took exchange at 5.32 francs and 50¼ on London. We heard of a large transaction in francs at 5.31.

The Archimedes is due in Montevideo with Vanlyck's cargo transhipped in Liverpool.

The Maskelyne leaves December 1st for Antwerp and Liverpool; she has already engaged 1,000 bales at 40s and 10 per cent.

The Rosse leaves 25th for New York.

There was some talk on 'Change to-day about a difficulty in discharging some of the steamers.

The Antwerp auction closed with only a stock of 3000 bales left.

The great London wool auction began yesterday, 130,000 bales to be offered. The wool auction at Havre begins on 29th, 8000 bales to be offered.

The wool market is now asserting its supremacy, and the business at the plazas is gradually developing heavy arrivals, and at the Once already a squeeze for room.

The following was the news on 'Change from the Once:

Once arrivals—

Tuesday 20,000 do

Much animation, all classes in brisk demand at full prices and very little left for to-morrow 20,000 large arrivals come, the expected decline does not appear to take place.

Mr Grisaldo sold a lot from Las Heras, with the bellies at 94 $.

Lambs at 70—90.
Bellies 35—38.

Fine Lincoln wools continue in great request and find a ready sale, but the coarse descriptions are not in demand. A very fine lot of this wool was sold in the south Plaza at 102 ps. arr.; it came from Mr Gardom's estancia near Villanueva station, and was much admired for its fine staple and beautiful condition.

Discount brokers report money very easy, and gold pagares done at 6 o/o.

At 4 o'clock a leading French broker sold 50,000 pats for end of month at 25.10.

The new Italian str. Iniziativa comes to Maderno & Co.; she will be up to-morrow and brings 350 immigrants and has splendid cargo accommodation. Still the shipbrokers complain of the arrival of outside steamers.

Immense complaint is made about the poisoned waters of the Riachuelo; they say it is worse than in the days of the saladeros, and the fish in the river are dying. The cause of all this is a distillery, we suppose some new Argentine whiskey they are making down there.

To-morrow the Cloth Manufactory is to be sold by Bringhurst at reduced valuation. Query, will it sell?

The Villari co is taking in a large cargo for Patagones and will sail a full ship on 30th inst. Captain Spur has placed at the disposal of H.E. General Conesa a large stateroom with private parlor, so that the General may thoroughly enjoy his trip to Patagones and San Blas. We went over the Villarino this morning and break-fasted on board with the Capt-in. There can be really no better sign of how this country is growing than this steamer for the trade of our Southern ports. A few years ago a man who had property down there had to either go on horseback or sail down in a small schooner; now, however, a man can go down to see his property in a Royal Mail or Lamport & Holt steamer, for really the Villarino is fitted up in the same luxuriant manner, large roomy staterooms, splendid quarter deck covered with awning, and a French cook to match the cuisine of the Hotel La Paix. Capt. Spur informs us that the trade with the South is growing very fast, and that his cabin is always filled with first class passengers.

The sale of land which we published the other day in the Sud Oeste, is one of much importance, and shows the rapidly increasing value of our lands.

The sudden push of the Lord Mayor and the Government to get up a Bolsa official will in all probability checkmate the effort of the Camara Syndical to form a company with new capital to make a larger Bolsa. It is very difficult to say what shape this matter will take, since the site proposed by the Lord Mayor is beyond question one of the very best in town, the Women's Hospital; but merchants, brokers, and capitalists, if called to vote, would certainly vote for a non official Bolsa, since any interference by Government in the affairs of the Bolsa is objectionable. A Bolsa cannot be regarded in the light of any of those other institutions in which the Government shares the management, and if the Bolsa under its present organization is defective, it may prove still more objectionable when under the decree or order of a Minister, the question becomes all the more serious since the move of the Lord Mayor threatens to check the individual action of the Bolsa members.

We extract from the American papers, received by the mail, the following:—

"The French are nothing if not enthusiastic, and always enterprising, very properly, the most sanguine hopes of any commercial venture in which they embark. Their ambition to transact as much as possible of their foreign commerce in French bottoms is certainly patriotic; and it is quite natural, therefore, that the inauguration of the new steamship line between this port and Bordeaux should have been made an occasion for a public expression, on the part of the Bordeaux merchants, of their great expectations of an enlarged trade between the two cities. We trust these anticipations will be fully realised. The 'Chateau Lafitte', the initial steamer, is of 4,000 tons burthen, and will be due here in a few days. The commerce between New York and Bordeaux is of sufficient magnitude to maintain a few regular steamers; but it is a question whether the passenger business, upon which so much depends, will amount to much. On his point, it is impossible to escape the logic of statistics. Thus, of the 26, 00 or 28,000 emigrants that left Havre during the first six months of the current year, but 1,200 were French, the greater part of the remainder being Germans, Russians and other nationalities. The new line is to receive a subsidy of 30,000 francs per annum during five years from the Bordeaux Chamber of Commerce, and 20 000 francs from a few of the French Southern Railways. The old wooden ships have been gradually disappearing from the quays of the Gironde, and, in point of fact, therefore, the steamships had become a necessary substitute for these."

The Revista Mercantil, in its review of the past fortnight, says that with the exception of the last few days the market has been very dull. Merchants are much afraid that the proposed new law increasing the duties on liquids to 50 o/o will be passed. This proves the want of practical knowledge on the part of our Legislators, as this law would undoubtedly tend to decrease the revenue instead of augmenting it as they erroneously suppose it would do. If this project becomes law, which is doubtful, it will cause very injurious results to commerce. There is slightly more animation observable in the export trade. The telegrams from Europe have cheered buyers a little, and producers, still smarting from the salutary lessons of last year, have become more moderate in their pretentions. The wools of this season are superior to those of last year, being considerably lighter and cleaner. The daily arrivals from the camp are easily disposed of: fine qualities eagerly sought after. Good sheepskins are in demand, and a fair amount of business done. Advices regarding wheat from Santa Fe and also from this Province are favorable, and it is supposed that the supply of grain will be abundant. The money market is remarkably quiet, and paper having nearly reached par, there is no speculation worth mentioning in gold. Discounts are done at 7 to 8 o/o per annum. The Continental Exhibition will in all probability be opened within two months, and it is hoped that it will bring new life into business. A new English bank, styled The English Bank of the River Plate, has been opened. The programme of this financial establishment is similar to those of the other banks. It is much to be desired that the slight increase of business now observable will rapidly grow to returned activity.

We have received the following for publication:—

CUSTOM HOUSE ROBBERIES

B Ayres Nov. 23rd, 1881

To the Editor of the Standard,

Dear Sir,

As one of the 'things not generally known,' it would be well if you would publish the following transcript from the 'Ordenanzas reformadas de la Aduana.'

"Art. 287.—El Banco Nacional se constituye inmediatamente responsable por la perdida, detrimentos o averias que sufran las mercaderias depositadas en los Almacenes Generales de la Aduana, salvo los casos siguientes:"

Then follow a series of exceptions, the 'fifth' of which is to the following effect—

"Por los hurtos que se cometen con fracturas de puertas o ventanas, o cualquiera otro medio semejante en todas los casos y circumstancias en que no haya estado en la facultad de los encargados de las depositarias el poder evitarlos."

Read in the light of the recent robbery from the Custom House deposits, these extracts need no comment. The sooner we know who 'has' to bear the loss, the Government to whom we pay almacenage, or the credulous owner of the goods stolen from deposits over which he has no control, the better for all of us.

Yours faithfully,
O.

LATEST FROM IRELAND.

MANIFESTO BY THE LAND LEAGUE.

The weekly meeting of the Land League was held yesterday, the Rev. Mr Cantwell, Thurles, presiding. Mr Campbell, acting secretary, said their books were not easily got at a present, but he had a copy of the minutes, which he would read. Subscriptions to the amount of £2 237 were received, of which £1,764 came from Americans, and £407 came direct to the offices in Dublin. A number of new members were admitted, including the members of a Franciscan community at Clare.

The following manifesto was read and adopted—

To the Irish people—Fellow Countrymen—The hour has come to test whether the great organisation built up during years of patient labour and sacrifice, and consecrated by the allegiance of the Irish race the world over, is to disappear at the summons of a brutal tyranny. The crisis with which we are face to face is not of our making. It has been deliberately forced upon the country while the Land Act is as yet untested, in order to strike down the only power which might have extorted any solid benefits for the tenant farmers of Ireland from that Act, and to leave them once more helplessly at the mercy of a law invented to save landlordism and administered by landlord minions. The Executive of the Irish National Land League, acting in the spirit of the resolutions of the National Convention, the most freely elected representative body ever assembled in Ireland, was advancing steadily in the work of testing how far the administration of the Land Act might be trusted to eradicate from the rents of the Irish tenant farmers the entire value of their own improvements, and to reduce these rents to such a figure as should for ever place our country beyond the peril of periodical famine. At the same time they took measures to secure, in the event of the Land Act proving to be a mere paltry mitigation of the horrors of landlordism, in order to fasten it more securely upon the necks of the people, that the tenant farmers should not be delivered blindfolded into the hands of hostile law courts, but should be able to fall back upon the magnificent organisation which was crushing landlordism out of existence when Mr Gladstone stepped in to its rescue. In either event the Irish tenant farmers would have been in a position to exact the uttermost farthing of their just demand. It was this attitude of perfect self-command, impregnable while there remained a shadow of respect for law and supported with unparalleled enthusiasm by the whole Irish race, that moved the rage of the disappointed English Minister. Upon the monstrous pretext that the National Land League was forcing upon the Irish tenant farmers an organisation which made them all powerful, and was keeping them by intimidation from embracing an Act which offered them nothing except helplessness and uncertainty, the English Government has cast to the winds every shred of law and of justice, and has plunged into an open reign of terror in order to destroy by her foulest means an organisation which was confessedly too strong for it within the limits of its own English constitution. Blow after blow has been struck at the Land League in the mere wantonness of Brute force. In the face of provocation which has turned men's blood to flame, the Executive of the Land league adhered calmly and steadily to the course traced out for them by the National Convention. Test cases of a varied and searching character were with great labour put in train for adjudication in the Land Courts. Even the arrest of our President, Mr Charles Stewart Parnell, and the excited state of popular feeling which it evoked, did not induce the Executive to swerve in the slightest from that course, for Mr Parnell's arrest might have been accounted for by motives of personal malice, and his removal did not altogether derange the machinery for the preparation of the test cases which he had been at much pains to perfect. But the events which have since occurred—the seizure or attempted seizure of almost all the members of the Executive, and of the chief officials of the League, upon wild and preposterous pretences, and the violent suppression of free speech—put it beyond any possibility of doubt that the English Government, unable to declare the Land League an illegal association, defeated in the attempt to break its unity, and afraid to abide the result of test cases watched over by a powerful and popular organisation, has deliberately resolved to destroy the whole machinery of the Central League with a view to rendering an experimental trial of the Act impossible, and forcing it upon the Irish tenant farmers on the Government's own terms. The brutal and arbitrary dispersion of the Central Executive has so far succeeded that we are obliged to announce to our countrymen that we no longer possess the machinery for adequately presenting the test cases in Court, according to the policy prescribed by the National Convention. Mr Gladstone has, by a series of furious and wanton acts of despotism, driven the Irish tenant farmers to chose between their own organisation and the mercy of his lawyers, between the power which has reduced landlordism to almost its last gasp, and a power which strives with all the ferocity of despotism to restore the detestable ascendancy from which the Land League has delivered the Irish people. One Constitutional weapon now remains to the Irish National Land League. It is strong, the swiftest, the most irresistible of all. We hesitated to advise our fellow-countrymen to employ it until the savage lawlessness of the English Government provoked a crisis in which we must either consent to see the Irish tenant farmers disarmed of their organisation, and laid once more prostrate at the feet of the landlord, and every murmur of Irish public opinion suppressed with an armed hand, or appeal to our countrymen to at once resort to the only means now left in their hands of bringing this false and brutal Government to its senses. Fellow-countrymen, the hour to try your souls and to redeem your pledges has arrived. The Executive of the National Land League, forced to abandon the policy of testing the Land Act, feels bound to advise the tenant farmers of Ireland from this time forth to pay no rents under any circumstances to their landlords until the Government relinquishes the existing system of terrorism and restores the Constitutional rights of the people. Do not be daunted by the removal of your leaders. Your fathers abolished tithes by the same method without any leaders at all, and with scarcely a shadow of the magnificent organisation that covers every portion of Ireland to-day. Do not let yourselves be intimidated by threats of military violence. It is as lawful to refuse to pay rents as it is to receive them. Against the passive resistance of an entire population military power has no weapons. Do not be wheedled into compromise of any sort by the dread of eviction; if you only act together in the spirit to which within the last two years you have countless times pledged your vows, they can no more evict a whole nation than they can imprison them. The funds of the National Land League will be poured out unstintedly for the support of all who may endure eviction. In the course of the struggle our exiled brothers in America may be relied upon to contribute, if necessary, as many millions of money as they have contributed thousands to starve out landlordism and bring English tyranny to its knees. You have only to show that you are not unworthy of their boundless sacrifices in your cause. No power on earth except faint-heartedness on your part can defeat you. Landlordism is already staggering under the blows which you have dealt it amidst the applause of the world. One more crowning struggle for your land, your homes, your lives—a struggle in which you have all the memories of your race, all the hopes of your children, all the sacrifices of your imprisoned brothers, all your cravings for enfranchised land, for happy homes, and national freedom to inspire you—one more heroic effort to destroy landlordism at the very source and fount of its existence, and the system which was and is the curse of your race and of your existence will have disappeared for ever. The world is watching to see whether all your splendid hopes and noble courage will crumble away at the first threat of a cowardly tyranny. You have to choose between throwing yourself upon the mercy of England, and taking your stand by the organisation which has once before proved too strong for English despotism. You have to choose between all powerful unity and impotent disorganisation; between the land for the landlords and the land for the people. We cannot doubt your choice. Every tenant farmer in Ireland is to-day the standard-bearer of the flag unfurled at Irishtown, and can bear it to a glorious victory. Stand together in the face of the brutal and cowardly enemies of your race. Pay no rents under any pretext. Stand passively, firmly, fearlessly by while the armies of England may be engaged in their hopeless struggle against a spirit which their weapons cannot touch; act for yourselves if you are deprived of the counsels of those who have shown you how to act. No power of legalised violence can extort one penny from your purses against your will. If you are evicted you shall not suffer. The landlord who evicts will be a ruined pauper, and the Government which supports him with its bayonets will learn in a single winter how powerless is armed force against the will of a united, determined, and self-reliant nation.

HOWARD'S CELEBRATED MACHINES

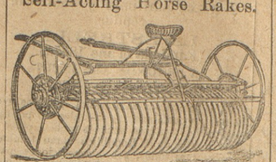
Howards' Self-Acting Horse Rakes.



The above were the first Self-acting Horse Rakes which secured public favour, and owing to their extraordinary success various attempts have been made to imitate them, but J. & F. Howard's simple brake principle—Patented—is so instantaneous in action, that all the contrivances introduced by others for effecting the same object are in comparison but complicated expedients.

OO, 18 teeth, 42 in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 7½ cwt.

OO, 28 teeth, 42in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 5½ cwt.

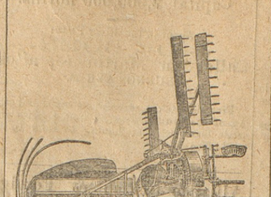
OOO, 28 teeth, 46in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 6½ cwt.

OOO, 22 teeth, 46 in wrought wheels, 10 feet wide, weight, 7½ cwt.

OOOO, 28 teeth, 5 in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 5½ cwt.

OOOO, 22 teeth, 52in. wrought wheels, 10 feet wide, weight 6 cwt.

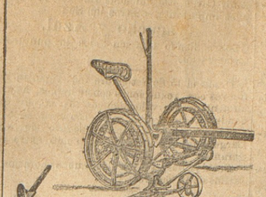
Howard's New Patent Simplex Mower.



J. & F. Howard's Simplex Mower is one of the lightest machines ever produced. It is from its construction remarkably strong, and has been found to be capable not only of cutting the heaviest crops, but of standing the roughest usage. J. & F. Howard's patented principle of open gearing is adopted. This gearing, among other advantages, is light in weight, of great strength, and not liable, as other gearing, to get clogged with the cut grass, there being no cogs to catch it, and no shield therefore is required.

With two Knives, Spring Seat, and Tool Box, containing all requisites for use in the field, weight 6 cwt.

Howard's New Patent Simplex Reaper.



J. & F. Howard's Simplex Reaper is in every way constructed to meet the demand for a light, but strong Reaper. It has a large travelling wheel, and having the fewest possible wearing parts, its value, especially where repairs are difficult to execute, can hardly be overstated. The experience of several harvests with large numbers of these Machines, both at home and abroad, and the distinguished place they have obtained in public trial fields, have fully demonstrated their superiority.

With two Knives, Seat and Tool Box, containing all requisites for use in the field, weight 10¼ cwt

The above Machines kept in stock by the Principal Hardware Merchants.

AS SURE AS EGGS ARE EGGS.—An American Editor declares that out West eggs are fetching two-pence each, and that hens do not care about business even at this price. We fancy this must be very far 'West,' or surely our American cousins would ere this have resorted to the use of 'Borwick's Gold Medal Custard Powder,' which renders the housewife perfectly independent of the domestic fowl, since it produces the most delicious custards, blanc-manges, &c., at half the usual cost, and in much less time. The hens had better be cautious about 'striking,' or some enterprising storekeeper will introduce this household boon, and ruin their trade for ever. There is no special 'laying season' for 'Borwick's Custard Powder,'—one can keep it always on hand in the neat little packets and tins in which it is sold. Can be had of all Storekeepers in the Colonies.—Civilian.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

(Ex Army Medical Staff)

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London

"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Vice
